Liphatech Expands Sales Team with Addition of Gregory Green

MILWAUKEE (November 4, 2026) — Liphatech Inc., longtime provider of intelligent pest control solutions, announces the addition of Gregory Green as Southwest District Sales and Technical Manager. Green will represent Liphatech's full line of products in Arizona, California, Colorado, Nevada, New Mexico and Hawaii.

Green brings more than 15 years of pest management industry experience to his role, including branch management, sales, service and technical expertise. His background includes leading service teams, developing customer relationships and helping pest management professionals find effective solutions to challenging pest problems. He also served in the U.S. Navy.

In his role, Green will work with distribution partners and pest management professionals to provide product education, technical support and recommendations for addressing pest management challenges.

"Gregory's extensive industry experience and commitment to helping customers make him a valuable addition to our team," said Matt Elderbrook, business manager at Liphatech. "His broad technical knowledge and customer-focused approach are a winning combination."
